

Michelina Sciullo

September 12, 1940 - February 10, 2015

Michelina Sciullo, 74, of Margate, FL passed away on Tuesday, February 10, 2015. Michelina was born on September 12, 1940 in Belvedere, Maritimo, Italy, to Ciriaco Liporace and Rosina Grosso Ciponte.

Michelina was raised in Italy. She later relocated to Uruguay where she met and married the love of her life, Oriente Sciullo. Together they raised two children in Uruguay before moving to the States.

Michelina was a classy lady; she believed in helping anyone that might need it. She had a special way of bringing a smile to your face, whether it was by way of something she said or one of her mannerisms. Michelina also desired to feed any guest in her home. Her favorite dish to make was homemade gnocchi. She also felt that a meal was not complete without a glass wine.

Michelina is survived by her son, Orazio Sciullo; her daughter, Rosalia Sciullo; her grandchildren, Javier Antonio Chavez, Juliana Chavez, Tatiana Sciullo, and Jessica Chavez; her siblings, Giuseppe Liporace, Juana Liporace, and Francisco Liporace; and numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, Oriente Sciullo; and brother, Pasquale Liporace.

“ I'll never forget the first time I met her, Rosalia brought me over to your house in Cicero, the sweetest kindest and warmest welcome I got from her, something I'll always remember. She was pretty funny too. How she was with her grandkids, she loved to interact with them, and how much she loved her kids. And she also like to go to the casino and play, she really enjoyed it. Her way of talking, her smile, her attentiveness towards others. I enjoyed going shopping with her and Rosalia, she loved to bring stuff back to Uruguay, then we'll come home eat and talk talk talk till pretty late. She'll be missed. La extrañare mucho, se llevo un pedaso de mi corazon con usted. Orazio and Rasalia, I'm so very sorry for you loss.
